

> Web-Conferencing

Price models BusinessWeb - Live Meeting 2007

Below we give you an overview of the available licence models for our product BusinessWeb. The entire conditions and prices for the particular models you can find in our price list.

BusinessWeb Flex

With this price model you only pay for the minutes used. The number of conferences is unlimited, as is the number of conference participants. BusinessWeb Flat can therefore be seen as a starter model, if experience is not yet available in dealing with the complexity and size of web conferences. However, for intensive use the following licence model might be a better choice for you.

BusinessWeb Flat

This model gives you the advantage of an annual fixed price. With BusinessWeb Flat, you can organize a web conference with up to 1,250 participants. The moderator can hold any number of online conferences, but not several conferences at the same time. Every Named User licence is a personal licence.

The conference centre

BusinessWeb Flat includes your own conference centre. This consists of your own administration and access site, customized to your corporate design. Various administration tasks such as setting up an account or making up a report can be carried out on the website. You can also use the conference centre as part of the Pay per minute model.

Tip

Combine your web conferences with our BusinessAudio product to make your conference an audio-visual experience. Please consult our website for more information on BusinessAudio.