

BusinessWeb Live Meeting 2007 - Price models

Below we give you an overview of the available licence models for our product BusinessWeb. The entire conditions and prices for the particular models you can find in our price list.

„Pay per minute“ model

With this price model you only pay for the minutes used. The number of conferences is unlimited, as is the number of conference participants. The „Pay per minute“ model can therefore be seen as a starter model, if experience is not yet available in dealing with the complexity and size of web conferences. However, for intensive use the following licence model might be a better choice for you.

„Named User“ model for unlimited use

This model gives you the advantage of an annual fixed price. With a Named User licence, you can organize a web conference with up to 1,250 participants. The moderator can hold any number of online conferences, but not several conferences at the same time.

The internal licence allows colleagues to attend any number of web conferences in your company; external participants do not have to be licensed. Every Named User licence is a personal licence.

The conference centre

The licence model includes your own conference centre. This consists of your own administration and access site, customized to your corporate design. Various administration tasks such as setting up an account or making up a report can be carried out on the website. You can also use the conference centre as part of the Pay per minute model.

Tip

Combine your web conferences with our BusinessAudio product to make your conference an audio-visual experience. Please consult our website for more information on BusinessAudio.
